1. Which of the following functions are used to set a cookie in PHP?

- setCookies()
- setrawcookie()
- setcookie()
- addcookie

2. Which of the following functions displays the number of fields in the specified table?

- mysql_field_len
- Mysql_fetch_field
- mysql_num_fields
- mysql_query

3. Which of the following variable scopes is not supported by PHP?

- local
- Static
- Global
- Hidden

4. Which of the following statements are not true for identifiers in PHP?

1. Identifiers are names given to various elements of a program
2. An identifier must begin with a letter
3. An identifier includes blank space as special character
4. A $ character can be used in the identifier to make it more readable

- Statement 1
- Statement 3
- Statement 2
- Statement 4

5. Which of the following functions is used to handle errors during runtime for a user-defined function?

- Set_trigger_handler
- set_error_handler
- Set_handler_report
- set_handler_error

6. Which of the following is not a valid mathematical function in PHP?

- max
- random
- pow
- avg

7. Which of the following functions is used to change the timezone used by the date and time functions'?

- date_set_timezoneset0
- SeLdate_timezone_set()
- setdate_default_timezone_set()
- date_default_timezone_set()

8. Which of the following data types is used to hold references to external types in PHP7

- Resource
- String
- Reference
- Pointer

9. Which of the following functions is used to declare constants in PHP?

- header()
- static()
- define()
- Cons()

10. PHP variables must start with a ……

- Underscore sign
- Dollar sign
- Alpha-numeric character
- Asterisk sign

11. Which of the following statement are correct regarding PHP:

1. PHP is a scripting tool used for server side functions
2. PHP is designed to act as a presentation layer which provides web interface for accessing databases
3. PHP can be executed on any web server on Linux platform only
4. PHP features can be implemented in client applications to enable interactive GUI

- Statement 1
- Statement 3
- Statement 2
- Statement 4

11. Which statement verifies that the data type of function parameter and the data type of value is being passed are the same?

- strict_types=1
- strict_types=0
- strict_types=true
- strict_types=false

12. Which of the following statement is true regarding anonymous class?

- An anonymous class must have a name with the public modifier
- An anonymous class can appear as the top-level class
- An anonymous class can be instantiated without using a name
- An anonymous class cannot contain properties or methods